The intent of the regulation is to allow for proper cleaning operations and to prevent chips and other waste materials from being blown into eyes or skin of the workers which may cause injuries. The design of the orifice and the velocity of the air passing out of the orifice or nozzle shall be such that it will not cause the waste material being cleaned away to be blown into the eyes or skin. Any relief vents or ports shall not be a hazard to the operator.