SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE

at AGC Safety Day 2008

Throughout the year, Georgia Branch, AGC provides various events designed to keep you abreast of industry issues through networking opportunities and more. Volunteer members of our Chapter's Safety & Health Committee, in partnership with Chapter staff, have recruited excellent speakers to present valuable information on construction industry safety best practices at this year's AGC Safety Day conference. A comprehensive line up of safety and management sessions anchors our day's activities. Attendees are encouraged to visit our MarketPlace Exhibition complete with all of today's jobsite safety tools and resources, and participate in the day's safety awards luncheon.

Plan to attend this year's AGC Safety Day on March 28 at the Gwinnett Center in Duluth, Georgia.

Here's who should attend from the Building, Municipal-Utility, Highway and Industrial Contractors, along with Design-Build and Construction Management Firms:

- CEOs
- Presidents
- Estimators
- Engineers
- Controllers
- Purchasing Agents
- Job Site Supervisors
- Project Managers
- Safety Directors
- Architects
- Human Resource Managers
- Business Development Directors

RECOGNIZING EXEMPLARY FIELD SUPERVISORS

at AGC Safety Day 2008

One of the most popular features of AGC Safety Day is the lunch program recognizing recipients of the Ron Amerson Supervisors' Safety Award. A Georgia Branch, AGC supervisor who manages a job site and has no lost-time accidents in the previous year is eligible to receive an award for safety excellence during the Ron Amerson Supervisors' Safety Awards presentation. The Safety and Health Committee believes a construction firm is accident-free as a result of how well a field supervisor manages their jobsite. During this program, supervisors are honored as vital contributors to our industry's success. Be sure to nominate your firm's excellent jobsite supervisors by completing the enclosed Ron Amerson Supervisors' Safety Awards entry form. (Only available for Georgia Branch, AGC Members.)

KEYNOTE ADDRESS

at AGC Safety Day 2008

Along with industry leaders from our membership, Cindy Coe joins Georgia Branch, AGC to participate in the 14th Annual Safety Conference. Ms. Coe is the Regional Administrator for the U. S. Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA). She delivers her keynote address just prior to the awarding of the Ron Amerson Supervisors' Safety Awards and promises valuable OSHA updates for construction firms working in the southeastern United States.
