

About this Course!!!

If you are a line supervisor, safety director, operations manager, or owner of a company with a warehouse, you will want to attend this seminar presented by OSHA personnel. If you are employed in a safety role by a company that is active with material movement, warehousing or storage, and distribution of products or materials, you will also benefit from attendance.

Help your company reduce costs from injuries and fatalities that can occur from movement of products with people and powered industrial trucks; delivery and distribution trucks, maintenance checks and other material and dock hazards. Take your hazard recognition information, reminders and best practice advice back to YOUR workforce to increase safety, reduce costs, and increase productivity.
