RE: Washington FFY 2012 FAME and CAP

Dear Mr. Mahlum:

The FAME evaluation process and resulting report represents a positive and constructive approach to helping ensure worker protection.

The time and effort placed into the monitoring and review processes by both Washington and OSHA staff are significant. Our continued collaboration will further ensure the increased safety and health of Washington state workplaces and workforce.

I am pleased to provide to you the corrective action plan (CAP) for the FFY 2012 FAME report and to inform you the three (3) resulting recommendations have been efficiently and effectively addressed. Appropriate administrative policies, procedures and processes were developed and implemented in February 2013.

Respectfully,

Anne Soiza, Assistant Director
Division of Occupational Safety and Health
Washington State Department of Labor and Industries
