

RESIDENTIAL CONSTRUCTION PRE TEST

Please circle the best answer to each question below. This is not a graded test.

1. Even if the extension cord you are using is in good condition, a GFCI is required.
 - a. True
 - b. False

2. Which of the following is not a result of practicing good housekeeping on the jobsite?
 - a. Reduced trip and fall hazards
 - b. Helps control pest harborage
 - c. Reminds you to clean your house
 - d. Lowers the possibility of a fire or explosion

3. OSHA standards allow electricians to splice and repair extension cords used in residential construction.
 - a. True
 - b. False

4. When working on scaffolding, some type of fall protection is required above _____ feet.
 - a. 6
 - b. 8
 - c. 10
 - d. 12

5. Class C hardhats are rated at _____ volts.
 - a. 0
 - b. 200
 - c. 2,000
 - d. 20,000

6. Wall openings above 6 feet from the lower surface that are wider than _____ inches shall be guarded to prevent falls.
 - a. 18
 - b. 24
 - c. 32
 - d. 36

7. Eye protection is only required for the individual creating the hazard.
 - a. True
 - b. False

8. Residential construction is exempt from OSHA fall protection standards.
 - a. True
 - b. False

9. The top brace on a ladder jack scaffold can be made of _____.
 - a. Wood
 - b. Fiberglass
 - c. Metal
 - d. Rope

10. A competent person is one who:
 - a. Has the ability to recognize hazards
 - b. Finished High School
 - c. Has the authority to correct problems
 - d. a & b
 - e. a & c